the president which met his criticism, Mr.

Interference With Judiciary.

Mr. Rayner turned his attention to the judiciary, amouncing his belief that it ought to be free from executive interference. "It is therefore my judgment," he added, "that the criticism by the president of Judge Humphrey, with reference to his decision in the case known as the meat packers' case in the Illinois courts, was an invasion of judicial pre-rogatives."

The result of the president's construction of his perogatives, Mr. Rayner said, had raised a new school of scribes who had commenced to edit a revised edition of the constitution called the "unwritten constitution." Mashington, Jan. 31.—Senator Heyburn continued his criticism in the senate today upon the special order of the secretary of the interior which forbids 'he issuance of patents to land until after an examination on the ground by a special agent.

He said 18.—600,000 acres of land in Idaho had been converted into forest reserves. He could make no explanation of the policy being pursued unless it was "greed of power."

Senator Carter interrupted the discussion to state that last year not less than 160,000 thousand settlers on land in western states migrated to Canada. The reason was, he said, because setflers were tiring of the increasing restrictions and embarrassments being thrown in their way by the administration of the public land laws His statistics showed that ten years ago but forty-seven settlers had migrated to Canada in a year.

Mr. Heyburn had not concluded when the senate adjourned.

MR. BRYAN'S LECTURE.

"You may say to the Democrats of Utah through The Herald," said William Jennings Bryan, "that I believe the growth of sentiment of the country is with the Democratic party because of the sweeping trend toward its policies. The president has done excellent work but his party does not support him in his reform efforts as well as the Democratic have done, I believe that the next Republican convention will very likely see an international fight between the Roosevelt Republicans and the standpatters—a fight/more bitter than that between the two/elements in the Democratic party in 1896."

Mr. By yan received representatives of Salt Ligke newspapers after his lecture last eyening. He declined to state whether or not he would again be a candidate for the presidency, saying that it was as yet early to go into the question. Nor would he say he would accept if tendered the nomination.

"Conditions make platforms and platfornis inake candidates," he said. "The election is too far off yet and something may/come up which may change the entire/complexion of matters. I cannot say what we will do and I cannot certainly predict what Mr. Roosevelt will do.
